

From the desk of... Working Class Mozart

Dear Sir/Madam:

Working Class Mozart is a short film. Likewise, disseminating this information only condenses it further. More to point:

When I first became licensed in plasma arc welding, I thought it involved my own plasma and I was, to be honest, disappointed when I realized it was as thumb-twiddling a job as you could ever expect. Getting accredited in it was my fait accompli.

My prior achievements in symphonic composition, flutes notwithstanding, speak for themselves. I wrote music as silky as a tunic sewn from rose petals! But alas, one must change with the times. I don't lament society's rejection of chamber music as a path to gainful employment, I choose to work! As such, I report directly to a robot and am paid adequately.

Sincerely,

Wolfgang A. Mozart, W.C.
